Chromosome band 10p13 has been shown to be the site of the sialic acid (SA) and lysozyme genes of the human. We report here the localization of the SA gene cluster to a 170 kb segment on the short arm (pter-p15.3) while lysozyme is located on a chromosome 10q11-q14 segment. On chromosome 10q11, there is a subregion of 130 kb e79caf774b

By the way, there's a story of a book published in 1834. It had the Bible on the cover and on the title page you read "Genesis for Thee." Years after the publication, a reading of that translation of the Bible occurred in England. The American journalist, Peter T. Garrett, was on that occasion and he said, "I want you to see what God can do with the Bible." Then he lifted the Bible off the table and he said, "Jesus, you see these people?" "No." He said, "God." He put the Bible back down on the table and it was a great moment of faith. I think God can do great things with the Bible. In closing, I hope I have given you a reason to be excited about the Bible. I hope that God is in the process of reshaping Christianity from the inside out. There is something going on, I believe, right now in our world, in our society and in our own church, in our own homes and even at Christian retreats. I think we are re-thinking Christianity in a way that is much more relevant and relevant to our culture. I want to call it the Fourth Turning. The Bible is part of the American Founders vision. The Bible was part of Thomas Jefferson's vision. The Bible will be part of the vision of the Christian church for the future. I'm excited about that. The older you get, the more excited you ought to be about the Bible. And the younger you get, the more excited you ought to be about the Bible, because you will be studying the Bible for the rest of your life. Pray this. Please pray that we can have a conversation with non-believers about the Bible. Pray that we can raise up more believers who have the passion and the passion for the Bible. For the church, I
