The visitors had wanted to feed the newborn panda with a piece of bamboo. The baby panda, born six weeks ago and weighing in at 80 grams, had only been eaten a handful of times by its mother, zoo officials said. The child's father was a nine-year-old silver panda, and the baby was one of five cubs born to the two at the zoo. The Shenyang Evening News reported that the mother panda was pacing behind the men as they drove away with her baby. She paced for over 100 meters, they reported, before being taken away in a police car. Zoo director Zhang Chen told the paper: 'The mother stopped when she saw them, then she sat down and patted the vehicle, as if it were a dog. 'The men laughed and exchanged a few words. They took the panda in a car while the mother was still very close by.'[Successful treatment with cyclosporine of ophthalmomyiasis externa caused by Lucilia cuprina]. Arsene Wenger has come out in full support of England defender Danny Rose, after his tumultuous start to the season. Rose has found himself the subject of intense scrutiny after the former Tottenham and Sunderland defender was left out of Gareth Southgate's squad for the World Cup Qualifier against Malta last month. The 27-year-old suffered a groin injury in training before the match against Malta, and missed the remainder of the month's friendlies against Austria and Germany before returning for the final two games of the season against Chelsea and Arsenal. The defender, who has struggled to win back his place in the first team at Arsenal after returning to the club from Tottenham last summer, faces an uphill battle to reclaim his place in the starting lineup following the arrival of summer signing Stephan Lichtsteiner in January. The tactical switch saw Olivier Giroud, Aaron Ramsey and Theo Walcott come into the side alongside Danny Welbeck and Mohamed Elneny in central midfield. Even Arsene Wenger conceded that Rose needed to be given more time to adapt to his new surroundings. However, with the future of Danny Rose in question, Wenger has come out in support of the defender and his stock appears to have fallen sharply. Speaking to the media ahead of Arsenal
