The Healing Brush allows you to select an area of an image and copy pixels from another area of the same image. This can be used to repair errors or bleed-through when shooting; or in some cases to make it look like it was taken in a studio. The Spot Healing Brush allows you to select areas of an image, and replace pixels with a better version of its surrounding pixels. This tool is similar to the Brush tool with one exception: the Brush tool can only replace pixels outside of the original selection (the active area), while the Spot Healing Brush can replace the selected pixel with a pixel from anywhere in the image. It is used for minor and large selective edits. The Magic Wand allows you to select an area of an image and have Photoshop automatically select pixels that match that area's characteristics. For example, you may use it to select an area that is lighter than the rest of the image, or darker. The Magic Wand can also select several areas of the image. The Lasso tool allows you to select a specific area of an image and draw a selection around it. When you click on the image and let go of the mouse, Photoshop automatically extracts the pixels that match the selection. The Pen tool allows you to draw or edit directly on the canvas. It can be used to create, draw shapes, draw tools, make selections or even paint with a brush. The Eraser tool allows you to remove pixels from an image. It can remove pixels from the canvas or from one or more layers. Effects Effects are special effects applied to photos in Photoshop. These range from simple transformations (crop, warp, blur, sharpen), to applying layers of different effects to the image. Effects are applied to the individual layers of an image and can be changed easily by simply moving the effect or the layer below it. Advanced There are several advanced tools in Photoshop that provide additional options and functionality to normal tools. Some of these tools include: The Paths are two or more layers composed of objects created with the Pen tool, and which are stacked on top of one another. The top layer is the background and the bottom layer is whatever object is on top. The Paths are very useful for creating "landscapes", "seascapes" and "designs" in the artwork. The Masks allow for the creation of "mask layers". These layers are bitmaps that allow control over the rest of an image in a way similar to clipping masks.

The saccharides in blood sera of deer (Cervus elaphus)--a tentative analysis of the glycosaminoglycans. The saccharides in blood sera of the caribou (Cervus elaphus) and three deer species (Cervus elaphus, Cervus canadensis, and Axis axis) were analyzed by quantitative and qualitative carbohydrate-specific methods. In the blood sera of the caribou, heparin-sulfate, chondroitin-4-sulfate, chondroitin-6-sulfate, hyaluronate, dermatan sulfate, heparan sulfate and dermatan sulfate-cholesterol fraction were detected. In the elk and the red deer, only heparin-sulfate and dermatan sulfate-cholesterol were found. In the roe deer, chondroitin-6-sulfate was present and, in the mule deer, chondroitin-4-sulfate was detected. The high content of heparin-sulfate in the blood sera of the caribou is of interest from the aspect of taking this species as a model to analyze processes related to wound healing.load("@io_base_rules_go/go.def.bz", "go_library") go_library(name = "go_default_library", src = ["labels.go"], importpath = "k8s.io/kubernetes/pkg/kubelet/container/options", visibility = ["//visibility-public"], deps = ["pkg/kubelet/container/config/v1alpha1:go_default_library", "pkg/kubelet/types:go_default_library", "pkg/types:go_default_library", "staging/src/k8s.io/api/core/v1:go_default_library", "staging/src/k8s.io/apimachinery/pkg/apis/meta
