FIFA 22 also introduces new coach behaviours like agility, more intelligent decisions, and more control over his team. It will also offer complete new tactics, such as help-screen, serve-and-move, and off-ball movement. A major addition is “DNA and Game Style Adjustment,” which has been introduced for the first time in FIFA 21. Now, when you set up a new game, you have the option to customize a real-world team based on their actual playing style and fit to your particular team's needs. Customization has always been a key pillar of the FIFA franchise, and FIFA 21 introduced some changes to make the customization more tangible. Teams that make the most of those changes, including the Juventus, Barcelona and Real Madrid will have greater playing styles and features. “With “DNA and Game Style Adjustment,” we've made adjustments to improve the player model for the different team types that fans will be able to create,” said Matt Dengler, Senior Producer for FIFA 22. “So, whether you're playing against a Real Madrid team with an aggressive, energetic playing style or you want to build your own 'football house' with teams that have specific characteristics, you'll have more control of the team in FIFA 22, and any tactic that has been used by a team in FIFA 21 will be available for you to use. The customization component of FIFA 21 has always been one of our most popular features, and we are again excited to offer this for FIFA 22, with changes like this and this new “advanced AI.”

The main features of FIFA 22: New Player Model. The player model in FIFA 22 includes better skin textures and realistic facial expressions, as well as a new joints system with more animation variety, adjusting the way in which players behave and react. Motion Capture. Get a complete, high-intensity football match captured in motion capture suits, and use those data for faster and more realistic gameplay. Elastic Anisotropy. Powered by Football, EA SPORTS FIFA 22 brings the game even closer to the real thing with fundamental gameplay advances and a new season of innovation across every mode. The most authentic football experience delivered in a generation. Propelled by the feedback of millions of fans, lead gameplay designer, Alex Regan, and lead gameplay engineer, Steve Morrow, brought a new generation of gameplay advancements to FIFA. Better Player Intelligence Many of FIFA's key gameplay systems have been overhauled and improved, delivering a deeper, more sophisticated understanding of real-world footballers. When you play as a virtual footballer, your every move will be better informed, as these fundamental gameplay upgrades improve decisions and on-field moments. Physically Based Player Movement The main gameplay improvements in FIFA 22 are due to the introduction of Physically Based Player Movement. FIFA has always been a sport that is played in the world's most sophisticated stadiums, with the action taking place in a dynamic, three-dimensional space. As the ball changes direction and bounces on the pitch, players run and pass the ball in the same way they would in a real match. They now move quicker and smoother to keep up with the action, as the game has become more realistic, and body punching, feinting and tripping now occurs just like in real life. Introducing Pro-Active Physically Based Player Movement Physically Based Player Movement Active Player Model, more realistically approximates how different types of players move on the pitch
