The program can also be used to create BIM (Building Information Model) and other building models, with the help of native 3D visualization tools. This is achieved by exporting DWG, DWF, 3DS or DGN files into a BIM format (BIMx, e.g., STEP or others) and in some cases, vice versa. A Windows-only, direct version of BIMx also exists. Although Autodesk is primarily a 2D CAD application, a small number of 3D models can be opened in the product. In 2018, Autodesk announced the release of AutoCAD 2020 with major improvements to its cross-platform CAD and GIS solutions for the home and small business. Autodesk has released a free version of AutoCAD, AutoCAD LT. Users of AutoCAD can use features such as Vectors, Texts, Regions, Connectivity and Alignments. These features are found in a common library for which a.NET class is provided. Support for Autodesk Design Review can also be enabled within AutoCAD. Design Review is a collaborative tool for analyzing and approving design changes made to electronic and printed documents. Modeling The program includes modeling capabilities. The functionality differs from other CAD programs in that 3D models can be opened in a given workspace instead of being saved on a separate 2D layer, as in other CAD programs. Also,.dwg,.dxf,.cad,.dgn,.dwf,.stp,.stl,.vtx and.x3d files can be opened directly without exporting from a different CAD program, and also those files can be viewed on a traditional 2D screen in one of the AutoCAD workspace. Some objects in AutoCAD can be viewed in 3D, or in 2D with a Camera that allows the viewing of objects from different angles. The Camera tool has been an integral part of AutoCAD since the introduction of AutoCAD R14. The default camera view in AutoCAD is set to the "View" panel (commonly called the "ViewCube" in AutoCAD). Use of graphics tablets, such as the Wacom Cintiq, allow users to control a CAD application by drawing directly with their fingers or stylus. An AutoCAD-based software product that allows this is Imagine CADD, which supports touch- af5dca3d97
