The Microsoft IT Pro Advantage: Streamlined browser-based remote control software Cloud connectivity provides access to any Windows device from anywhere File transfers, un-encryption and server management Support for large numbers of desktops and servers Browser-based and no download/install required Licensing on a per-client basis Periodic updates (no subscription fees) Support for all Windows clients For an IT admin, the following features are included: Disk imaging Centralized storage of data accessed by many remote desktops, such as log files Unencrypted file transfers of local and remote data Direct access to both files and folders on remote computers Server administration File sharing and server management Support for large numbers of remote desktops, servers, computers and PCs Managed by centrally located server No download or installation required Outlook 365 and Office 365 also offer support for remote access and collaboration. However, this requires the expense of additional Windows-based devices for IT admins to manage, in addition to support costs for helping staff use the feature. Office 365 and Outlook 365 licenses come with a 3-year subscription as long as your organization is on their roster, however, the yearly cost of support on non-subscribers is 5$ per device. Wow! This is a dead-ringer for their primary application. Its even better that it runs under windows. Dameware provides an extensive suite of applications, including server, client, and ITAM tools.
