Photoshop is always a $9.99/month plan, but this plan offers unlimited photos for free, which is a great way for people to start playing with Photoshop. Both ways are going to be able to give you the same results. It all depends on how much you want to learn and the design tools you are fine with keeping to yourself. Ideally, of course, you can do all of this on Photoshop. And you'll probably do more of it, and for longer, if you have the need. But you might not need to do it all in Photoshop, and you probably don't. Obviously, the newer versions of Photoshop are a lot easier to learn than those on older versions. We've chosen to go with the newest version, as we think it has a conveniently set of icons. The technology changes in Photoshop are different for each version of the software and it's a lot easier to learn and master the newest versions of Photoshop.
